INFORMATION ABOUT VOLATILE SUBSTANCE USE FOR CONTRACTORS IN WESTERN AUSTRALIA

Australian Government

Government of Western Australia
Mental Health Commission

In Western Australia, there is ongoing concern about the misuse of volatile substances – particularly when they are used by young people. Sniffing volatile substances is a dangerous practice and can be fatal.

As a business consumer of volatile substance products, you may be an unintended source of supply for people who use these products for the purpose of intoxication. Volatile substances used for inhaling are often stolen from worksites, vehicles and local tips, so it is important that these substances are stored and transported securely, and disposed of in a responsible manner.

You can provide a great service to the community by limiting access to the following volatile substances:

AEROSOLS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Spray paint aerosol cans • Other aerosols – various automotive and cleaning products
SOLVENTS	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Glues and adhesives – super glues, rubber cement • Other solvents – toluene, paint strippers, degreasers and cleaning products • Petrol
GASES	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Butane – portable butane/propane cartridges used for camping stoves, soldering irons and flame torches.

Some of the steps you can take to minimise volatile substance misuse include the following:

If you usually use unleaded fuel, top up your tank with Low Aromatic Fuel when you arrive at a community/town. • Use diesel-powered equipment where Low Aromatic Fuel is not available. • Make sure you know what volatile substance products are in your possession and check them before you leave a community/town. If anything is missing, please report it to the police.
